TWO STRIKERS were among the first to picket the main entrance of the Sugar House Friday morning. Union officials said it took about 52 persons in all to man the lines for each shift.

Markham house to be demolished by the city

BELLE GLADE—The City Commission, meeting for their last time in the City Hall at 33 W. Ave. A, decided to demolish the Wilford Markham home immediately behind the new city hall unless Markham can come up with plans by next Monday to remove the building.

The home was the subject of a lengthy discussion two weeks ago when it appeared that if its removal proves to be uneconomical, it would be allowed to remain at the rear of the new city building.

Support for that stand was still evident Monday night when Commissioner Ralph Kirk voted against the motion, made by Commissioner Claude Tindall and approved with the votes of Mayor Tom Altman and Commissioner Kenneth Harris.

But Tindall, in making his motion to give Markham another week to make arrangements to move it, after which time the city administration is to be instructed to demolish the building, said the input he's received from residents over the past two weeks has run at least 2-1 and possibly 4-1 against allowing it to remain in McDonald Park.

After the commission made that decision, City Manager Robert R. Sanders was given the go-ahead on plans for a dedication ceremony and an open house in the new city hall Feb. 10.

Sanders said he is making up a list of VIPs to invite to the ceremony and the open house is supposed to last from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., with a buffet lunch for the dignitaries at noon.

Sanders said the various city departments should be moved into the new city hall before the next commission meeting on Jan. 16 but even if it isn't completely occupied, the meeting room will be ready by then for the first commission meeting in the new quarters.

In other business, the commission:

- Granted a request for a zone change for the property behind 1900 West Canal St. South for the use of a machine shop. The request was granted on the condition a ten-foot buffer strip be retained to allow for continued development of the area for single-family residences.

- Directed Sanders to proceed with plans to have two tennis courts, recently demolished in McDonald Park, reconstructed in Lyons Park.

- Turned down an offer from Happy Johnson to lease an estimated 14 acres of land adjacent to the city truck shed and sewage treatment plant for $10,000 a year.

- Approved the street paving program for the year.

- Gave Sanders the go-ahead to hire a water meter reader foreman at a salary of $12,480.

- Granted a request to the Association of Retarded Citizens to use the two city civic centers to house a recreation program being put on by the ARC.

Community Action Council board slots to be filled Feb. 16

SOUTH BAY—An election to pick a representative and an alternate each from South Bay and Belle Glade on the Palm Beach County Community Action Council Target Area Group will be held at 8 p.m. Feb. 16 at the South Bay Community Action Council Building located at 218 N.W. Ninth Ave.

Representatives, according to Mrs. Aurie Williams of the CAC, will serve a one-year term and will be providing input on the decision-making process for the county-wide organization, including upcoming programs and projects.

Persons elected, Mrs. Williams said, must come from the poor, the private and the public segments of the community. She said both South Bay and Belle Glade are considered target areas in the CAC program and make up two of seven such areas in the county.

Another area is centered in Pahokee.

"We'll have both the nominations and elections on the same night," she said, adding anyone who wishes to be considered for the representative election needs to appear at the meeting for the nomination.

The current representatives of the area are Florrie Hicks and Eva Reese while Modine Clark and Doris Fletcher are the alternates.

Mrs. Williams said transportation will be provided for anyone who wishes to attend the election, if they need it, and anyone who lives in the communities affected can show up to vote.

Anyone desiring further information may contact Mrs. Williams or Mrs. Hattie Fields from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday by calling 996-3079 or 996-6086.

Drivers return to jobs Sugar strike ends

BELLE GLADE—A truck drivers strike at the Sugar Cane Growers Cooperative of Florida, Inc. sugar mill, which erupted into violence Monday and Tuesday, ended officially at 10 p.m. Tuesday and all the workers were reported back on the job Wednesday morning.

Cooperative Personnel Director Charles Schiele said Wednesday morning 32 more drivers appeared than the cooperative had positions for. He said the excess drivers have been put on a standby list and will be used if and when needed.

Schiele said the cooperative had hired some 60 new drivers during the five-day strike to replace the ones who failed to show up for work, although he was careful to point out, as had other Cooperative officials during the strike that many of the drivers weren't actually striking but were afraid to cross the picket lines.

"It's been the most gratifying thing in the world," he said, "to see the cooperation we've received from the community and the people at the mill. Many supervisory people and field people worked long hours to make sure everything continued working smoothly."

"We've been overwhelmed by the cooperation," Cooperative President George Wedgworth said. "It's let us keep those who wanted to work receiving paychecks and keep the mill operating."

No one wins in something like this," Wedgworth said, "but we were able to minimize the losses to everyone and we were able to hold a high percentage of the jobs open."

Schiele said the worst time was starting time Friday when only eight drivers actually went on the road on time, with many others coming in but not actually going to work until later in the day, but the situation gradually improved until everyone was back on the job Wednesday morning.

"Our position," he said, "is that we want an open, relaxed atmosphere around here between management and the employees and we don't need a third party like a union or intimidation like a strike to talk to them."

Schiele said there may be some changes made in working conditions at the mill as a result of the strike but didn't specify what they may be, if any.

Union organizer Bill Boydston said Wednesday the strike was called off because an insufficient number of strikers could be found to man the picket lines. He said he had been told by the strikers they were afraid of the Sheriff's Department officers on the scene.

The cooperative first learned of the impending strike Thursday afternoon, following an exchange of letters and a telegram between cooperative officials and William Boydston of IAM (International Aerospace Machinists).

While there was some confusion the first day and eight people were arrested, there was no physical violence until early Monday morning. A total of ten persons have been arrested with the possibility of 11th in connection with several incidents.

The first occurred at 9:30 a.m. Friday, when five men and three women allegedly threatened a truck driver and blocked his passage to a loading ramp on Gressinger Farms property on Brown's Farm Road.

In that incident, Sheriff's deputies arrested Alvin James, 25, of 513 S.W. Fifth St. Apt. 9 in Belle Glade; Sidney Chavers, 21, of 502 Louisiana Ave. in Clewiston; Alfred Foot, 26, of 425 S.W. Ave. A, Apt. 18 in Belle Glade; Linda J. Tripp, 20, of 388 Osceola Center in Belle Glade; Betty Jean Sharpe, 37, of 16 Davis St. in Belle Glade; Millie M. Johnson, 31, of 500 S.W. Fifth St. in Belle Glade; Robert Lee Isaac, 26, of 305 S.W. Fourth St. Apt. 14 in Belle Glade and Nathan Clark, 33, of 127 12th St. South in South Bay, charging them with assault.

The eight appeared for their first hearing that afternoon before County Judge Don T. Adams, and were later bonded out on $1,000 each.

Boydston said the eight had been working in the cane field on Gressinger property when they decided to walk off their jobs and join the strike. He said they merely told the first truck driver he might as well turn around and go back because there was no one available to load his truck.

Two West Palm Beach men were arrested Monday and charged with assault of another cane truck driver.

Charged with assault and possession of less than five grams of marijuana in that case were Jack David Atkinson, 28, and James Trenton Homestead, 27.

Capt. Frank Fogleman of the Palm Beach County Sheriff's Dept. said Tuesday the incident took place on SR 80 between South Bay and Belle Glade when a truck driver reported he had been followed for ten miles by two men in a pickup truck.

The driver reported that about halfway between South Bay and Belle Glade, the pickup swung around him and one of the men pointed what appeared to be a rifle at him. Fogleman said the "rifle" was later found to be a length of pipe.

Blood brothers

BELLE GLADE—Although President Bob White of the local Rotary Club has been known in the past to needle members of the Belle Glade Lions Club, he was needed over the weekend to the point he became the Lions' blood brother.

White said Wednesday he was in town Saturday when he ran into Lion President Ron Snyder and Lion Earl Meredith and stopped to have a cup of coffee with them.

Before he knew what had happened, Belle Glade's chief Rotarian had been shanghaied, albeit willingly, into becoming a depositor in the Lions' new blood bank.

Snyder said later the reason for the donation was that although 15 Lions signed up to give blood Saturday to open their account, only nine showed up to make deposits while ten was the required figure.

"It's a good cause," White commented. "I hope my family and I never need blood transfusions ourselves, but if it's ever needed, it's good to know someone will donate it. I've given blood several times in the past."

Sugar terminal to be built in West Palm Beach

Ground will be broken Tuesday for a $4.5 million dollar bulk sugar terminal at the Port of Palm Beach to serve five of the largest sugar producers in the world.

George Wedgworth, treasurer of Florida Sugar Marketing & Terminal Assn., Inc., a company formed to succeed the Florida Sugar Exchange, said construction will begin on the bulk terminal this month and is expected to be completed this year.

Wedgworth said the company, formed in November, expects to move 250,000 tons of raw sugar annually through the terminal with shipments bound for ports in the northeastern United States and Louisiana.

The terminal will consist of a 20,000 ton capacity warehouse, and facilities to automatically unload the sugar from trucks bringing it in from the mills and load it onto vessels waiting in the port.

The trucks are expected to drive onto scales to weigh the sugar, dump it into a hopper, from which the sugar is transferred into the warehouse by a conveyor belt.

When the vessels are being loaded, the sugar will drop through grates in the warehouse floor onto conveyor belts, which will take it to a loading platform and onto a gantry crane.

Wedgworth said a tug and sea-going barge are being constructed specifically to handle the sugar being shipped from the terminal. The $5 million tug and barge will be owned and operated by Allied Towing of Norfolk, Va.

"To put it into perspective," Wedgworth said, "the tug pushed by the Sugar Daddy (now used to ship sugar from the Sugar Cane Growers Cooperative of Florida, Inc. to Savannah via the Intra-Coastal Waterway) can carry 1,000 tons. This barge will carry 12 times that amount."

The terminal and marketing company was formed in November with the purpose of supplying cooperative marketing and terminal services for the five sugar producers.

The producers involved in the joint effort are Atlantic Sugar Association, Gulf & Western Food Products Co., Osceola Farms Co., Sugar Cane Growers Cooperative of Florida and United States Suggar Corporation.

Wedgworth said four of the producers will ship 100 percent of their sugar, and U.S. Sugar will send part of its sugar through the terminal.

The newly-formed association has bought a ten-year lease from the Port of Palm Beach District with two ten-year options.

"We have made arrangements with Amstar for the purpose of the major portion of the sugar to be shipped through the terminal to their refineries in Louisiana," Wedgworth said.

He said arrangements are also being finalized to provide the trucks which will haul the sugar to the terminal from the mills and for producers. Construction is expected to begin this month.

A NEW TERMINAL is being constructed at the Port of Palm Beach to handle raw sugar shipments from five of the Glades' largest producers. Construction is expected to begin this month.

Some thoughts on the strike... Labor leaders are fond of saying the American worker's only weapon in his battle for fair wages and hours is the strike. But is that really the case? How many governmental agencies and bureaus have been established primarily for labor's benefit?

The Aerospace Workers say they are striking for "wages, hours, working conditions, and recognition." That's mighty vague. And no union leaders have seen fit to tell the public specifics.

As this is written, about 90 people remain off the job. That's not much union strength in a company that employs thousands. If conditions are so bad that a strike is the only answer, then why haven't more employees joined it?

Several acts of violence have been committed against the company and its employees. And a labor leader hinted that often a company will do something like this and blame it on the union. Surely he doesn't believe us to be that naive.

With the low price of sugar and the high costs of production, is a salary of over $300 per week for a truck driver so bad? Maybe those who feel it's that bad should simply go somewhere and take a job they consider better.

Strikes such as this one as well as those against coal mines in Tennessee are the primary reasons so many Americans are turning away from unions.

I'll be the first to admit I'm no mechanic. But like a lot of other things I'm not, it didn't prevent me from trying out the life of a grease monkey.

And you know what? Those guys earn their bread. Even if they do charge $10 an hour. They earn it.

My brief encounter with the world of wrenches began this past summer and is continuing yet. It started out as a routine ring and valve job on my airboat engine and thus far, has developed into bearings, honing the cylinders, gaskets and their functions and design and manufacture, and how to install a propeller in a couple of dozen not-so-easy lessons.

But somehow I managed to stumble and tumble through, getting most of the nuts and bolts back in their places and finding only a few left over, dropping only one washer, into the crankcase, and putting only one part on backwards. Trouble is, that part was the carburetor and the engine doesn't want to run with the carburetor on backwards.

And this weekend the supreme test came. The engine ran, but roughly. As a matter of fact, it only ran on three of its four cylinders. And I was thoroughly stumped. The only thing left for me to do, I figured, was to take off the cylinder completely and see if the rings were in crossways or something.

But help came to the rescue in the form of a local mechanic who said the best motto of a grease monkey is "Check the simple things first." I did. And my face was red when I found a spark plug wire had slipped off.

The airboat is now back in full, useful operation, running fine. How, I don't know.

But it occurred to me why I see so many "just rebuilt" adjectives in front of cars and boats in the classifieds. Some amateur mechanics finally got the thing running right and now wants to unload it before the whole thing caves in on again and he's got to start all over again.

I can fully sympathize with him.

Keep an eye on the water use plan

What Glades farmers don't know, or say, about the South Florida Water Management District's Water Use Plan for South Florida can hurt them.

As pointed out to area agricultural interests in a recent letter, Palm Beach County Extension Director Clayton Hutcheson said the plan pertains to Palm Beach, Broward and Dade Counties and when the plan becomes a reality, unless things change in the near future, it could be drawn up with little input by agriculturists.

The problem Hutcheson pointed out is that 80 per cent of the comments made during public hearings have been made by private individuals, many of whom are diametrically opposed to farming interests, while only 20 per cent of the statements come from farm-related people.

The reason for the disparity is that in all too many cases, only one person will speak for a farm-oriented agency or group.

Each and every comment is being read and responded to by the Water Management District and all the comments will be weighed before the final plan is drafted.

But when a spokesman speaks for an agricultural organization or group of individuals, he may end up looking as if only one person has commented.

In a one-man-one-vote situation, the farmers would come off on the short end of the stick and, when the plan is implemented, local farmers may find themselves without the water necessary to grow the crops that put bread on their tables.

Bruce Adams of the South Florida Water Management District will be working on the agricultural water plan over the next few months. He can be reached, and should be by those parties with an interest in the future water supply for South Florida, at 686-8900, Ext. 522.

"While we may still have adequate water to take care of urban and agricultural needs, at the present rate of growth, until 1985," Hutcheson said, "you must remember that date is only seven years away."

"The plans being made today," he continued, "are the ones that will be implemented when the faucet drips dry."

Violence not needed

Fire bombings are apparently in this week.

All we don't need in the Glades is the kind of labor strike other parts of the country has experienced in which property is destroyed and people are threatened and sometimes hurt or even killed.

We don't need it but that's apparently the direction already being taken by the strike at the Sugar Cane Growers Cooperative of Florida, Inc. by members of the International Aerospace and Machinists Union.

As of this writing, two trucks and two buses have been damaged or destroyed, two cane fields have been burned before their time, shots have been reportedly fired and fire bombs have been thrown at a man's house.

Tempers flare during an argument and things can really get hot when that argument affects the pocketbooks of everybody concerned but no pay raise, no marginal improvement of working conditions, no union recognition is worth the price of a human life.

And if the present trend continues, it isn't inconceivable that could be the ultimate price paid.

Union organizer William Boydston said Monday he has repeatedly told the pickets during meetings the union doesn't condone violence and he wants a peaceful picket. He denied the union had anything to do with the violence so far and said such actions have been taken in the past by other parties to discredit the union.

We may never know who is to blame because all too often in this type of situation the culprits are never caught.

But in one way, it doesn't really matter who's to blame. They know who they are in the first place and in the second place when violence does start it can quite often spread to the point everyone involved starts resorting to the same type of tactics and no one is exempt.

And that's what we don't need.

We don't need destruction of property. We don't need threats. We don't need fire bombings. We don't need fights of any kind. In short, we don't need a young war all our own.

Union and management both have tools, legitimate tools, to use in their own respective behalfs in this type of argument. The type of violence being resorted to this week isn't a tool, however. It's a weapon, it is justly outlawed and whoever is using it, assuming they're caught and a case can be made against them, should be justly punished.

CRACKER CRUMBS

BY DEAN JONES

Boy, would Hamlet have been disillusioned if he'd been hanging around here last week. Frailty, thy name is Women, indeed!

I never did take much stock in that observation by the dauntless Dane, but if I had, it sure would've taken a battering lately.

Item: Peppermint Patty of Peanuts asking a whole team of young toughs how they'd like to be forced to eat a couple of hockey pucks.

Item: The SWF (Sweet Young Thing for the uninitiated and the naïve) offering our Fearless Leader a bite of a knuckle sandwich.

Item: The distaff Herald staffer's long, loud and repeated lament about the "pusycat" strike at the Glades Sugar House along with her ghoulish craving for "excitement."

News Item: "Women soldiers measure up in Army test," despite so-called hardships.

Kipling couldn't just as easily added to his "A rag, a bone and a hank of hair," and a whim of iron, hath his Lady Fair.

There isn't much to be said about Peppermint Patty, especially since as of the time this is being written, she still hasn't settled the hash of that ice hockey team in the continuing saga of Peanut. But any time a girl's best friend addresses her as "Sir," she ain't what I'd call frail.

Nor is there much to say about the SWF in Clewiston, especially since I noticed Fearless Leader backing off rather rapidly when she offered him that unusual menu: Poly-unsaturated fist, indeed!

But the caustic comments made by the local distaffer (who shall remain nameless to protect the innocent and as an attempt at appeasement to prevent a further collection of lumps being added to my sore head) would've been surprising if I'd been so foolish as to expect comradery from women.

There could be method in the apparent madness of a person who condemns a guy for killing an animal to eat, in between wondering why bricks, invective and bullets aren't flying between strikers and strikers.

There could be but I doubt it. There is the possibility, of course, she holds the lives of so-called domestic animals more dear than the lives of humans, or more specifically men. Maybe that's it.

At any rate, any surprise on my part at her ladyship's bloodstain would have been a sure sign of encroaching senility, especially after I'd had a call there could be trouble on one of the picket lines and I asked if anyone if the office wanted a little excitement, they could run me out to the site to check out the disturbance (my wheels were in the shop at the time) and she asked what I was waiting for as she flew through her door.

Yet why I figure it's my job to cover violence if it happens, I really don't need pictures that bad. Otherwise, I don't think she would've adopted quite so scrupulous an attitude toward me. I'd just as lief go on back to the office when she suggested we stop at the labor camp to persuade the pickets there to throw a brick through a window...or at the deputy sheriff on the scene.

All of which goes to show I'd really have to be naive to have been surprised at the news item about the women soldiers "measuring up" to the Army test. Matter of fact, there wasn't any surprises in the article at all; not the fact they measured up, not the fact they complained about the uniforms (When was the last time you knew a woman to be completely satisfied with her wardrobe, especially when it's been chosen by men?) and not their gripes about being "pampered" by requiring escorts after dark and that they sleep apart from other troops on the field exercises.

And I certainly wasn't surprised about their dissatisfaction about the hardships they endured by being required to bathe out of a helmet, their field latrines and the lack of sanitation facilities on road marches.

I never was too happy about the quality of the comfort station being the nearest bush, always there was a nearby bush, myself. On the other hand, I didn't clearly understand why they wanted the men to dig their latrines after all, they are emancipated aren't they?

Maybe there's a bit of truth to Hamlet's lament after all. Believe that and I tell you another one.

BIG BIRD didn't land at Belle Glade Airport this week but the DC3 owned by Ag-Air was as large as any to land on the grass strip. Howard Barker, Ag-Air owner, said he brought the twin-engine freight plane down from its normal roost at the Pahokee Airport to do some work on it. Only one other aircraft as large has ever landed at the Belle Glade Airport, a South American DC3 which landed several years ago when it developed engine trouble.

Local girls are perfect at PBJC

BELLE GLADE—Eula R. Robinson, a Belle Glade student at Palm Beach Junior College, was one of 25 PBJC students to earn a perfect 4.0 mark for the fall term, being joined by Judy M. Wilson of Pahokee.

A total of 333 students made the Dean's List during the term with seven students from the immediate area being so honored.

Besides Ms. Robinson, Belle Glade students being named to the Dean's List were Francisca S. Alvarez, Wiley J. Battle and Clovis L. Lane. South Bay was represented by Evelina Styles and Patricia L. Brown and Judy M. Wilson from Pahokee were named.

In order to be eligible for the list during the fall and winter terms at PBJC, students must carry at least 15 credit hours with a 3.0 (B) or better average.

Profile In Business

PAHOKEE—Bryan Cross is the branch manager of Everglades Federal Savings & Loan Association in Pahokee and has been for the past year. As branch manager, Bryan interviews loan and savings customers, oversees the accounts, helps customers with their financial needs and generally oversees branch operations.

Everglades Federal is the oldest Federal Savings & Loan institution in Palm Beach County. The home office, which is in Belle Glade, was opened in 1932. There are two branches, one in Clewiston and the one in Pahokee, which opened in 1963.

All the accounts at Everglades Federal are insured by the Federal Savings & Loan Insurance Corporation (FSLIC). The FSLIC insures savings accounts up to $40,000. Interest rates are 5 1/4% on passbooks, and up to 7 3/4% on Certificates of Deposit.

The bulk of Everglades Federal's money goes for home financing, which means that most loans are made for families to purchase or improve their homes. This in turn enables the community to grow.

Bryan started working for Everglades Federal in the summer of 1972. He worked there every summer through 1976. He really enjoyed working with the personnel there, and after graduation from Stetson in 1976, went to work full-time for them. In February of last year, he was named Pahokee branch manager.

The Pahokee branch employs four full-time people, Bryan says that they have a really competent staff. He says that they are great, and that he couldn't do without them. The three who help him are Ruby Guthrie, Mary Johnson and Jill Pitts.

When asked why he chose a Savings & Loan institution over a commercial bank, Bryan said he felt that the people were more congenial. He likes his job because he is actually in a position to help people through investments and savings.

Bryan grew up in Belle Glade. He is a graduate of Glades Day School, where he played football. Bryan graduated from Stetson University in 1976. While there, he was a member of the national business fraternity, Alpha Kappa Psi.

He is also a member of the Pahokee Lions Club. Bryan's hobbies are drawing and design, water sports such as skiing, surfing and skin diving, and he loves to travel. He is also an auto enthusiast.

Bryan says he really enjoys the people in the Glades and the area itself. He invites everyone to stop in and chat with him about the area, people or business.

Everglades Federal in Pahokee is located at 323 Bacom Point Road. It is open Monday through Thursday from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. and on Friday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Program on insects to be given

BELLE GLADE—A program on the biological control of insects will be presented at 8 p.m. Tuesday during the January Vegetable Growers' Coffee in Bryant Auditorium at the Glades Office Building.

County Extension Agent Kenneth D. Shuler said Dr. Freddie Johnson, an extension entomologist with the Institute of Food and Agricultural Sciences at the University of Florida, will make the presentation.

"Most of our celery and a considerable amount of our leaf crops have been severely damaged by leafminers this year," Shuler said. "The cutworm-armyworm-loopers complex damage celery and lettuce as well as the other winter vegetables which are green in the Glades area."

"Dr. Johnson," he said, "will discuss how populations of these harmful insects can be suppressed by parasitic insects and by other nonchemical methods. Biological insect control will continue to receive more emphasis in the future as the EPA continues to restrict pesticide use."

Shuler invited growers, supervisory personnel and fieldmen to come and take part in the discussion. Coffee and donuts will be served.

There will be no admission charge for the film program.

Christian Comments

Following World War II, a group of men began reconstructing a church in Berlin. While piecing together a statue of Christ, those men could not locate the hands. After a futile search, one of the men commented that the Christians of the community would have to serve as the hands of Christ - always reaching outward, willing to help those in need.

Paul wrote in his letter to the Church of Rome (Romans 12:3-8) that "for just as you have many members in one physical body and those members differ in their functions, so we though many in number, compose the body of Christ." Some of us are hands, eyes, feet and mouth of Christ - all working together to proclaim the gospel of Christ. It is important to keep this body healthy and alert.

Just as our physical bodies react to injury, so should our spiritual body, if one member should break down, that means other parts take over - the ears become more sensitive if the eyes dim, the nose reacts as the loss of taste.

If we find that we have lost temporary use of an arm or leg we do not cease to function. Do we amputate that non-functioning part unless it is vital for our existence? We do not cease to live if we find that we have lost the effective use of a member of our body.

We should not withdraw from society or family, especially the family of God, when we see a member of society, home or church cease to function. There are times when we must carry more than just our load or required responsibilities. Just because someone whom you know fails to be a Christian witness does not mean you must cease in your witness. We should not as Christians accept or practice the law of our society - if someone hurts you, hurt back. Jesus said, "if you say you love me but hate a brother, you are a liar." The greatest act of a Christian witness is constant and consistent love.

God Bless You, Bill

Kiwanis hear Taylor

BELLE GLADE—Olin Taylor, past lieutenant governor and veteran member of Kiwanis International believes that to have a successful service club you must first have leadership, community involvement and, last of all, creditation.

Taylor spoke to the members of the Kiwanis Club of the Glades at their weekly meeting Wednesday, Jan. 4 at the Holiday Inn.

Taylor told the group that he was proud to be an originator of the local club. "It's quite an inspiration to go into a place and start a new Kiwanis club."

The Kiwanis is the fastest growing service organization in the world. Kiwanis serves 65 countries throughout the world with 299 clubs just in the state of Florida. "I'm sure Belle Glade can be the number one club and citizenship in the Florida District," Taylor said.

A firm believer in community involvement, Taylor stressed to the local club members that youth services, active membership in the newly formed club and citizenship were also some of the key factors in getting a new service club off the ground.

"Motivate yourself first and after you weather the storm, it will be an experience you will never forget," Taylor said.

The local Kiwanians will hold their first main event, Charter Night, on Jan. 27 at the Belle Glade Elks Lodge.

Anderson explains finances

BELLE GLADE—The principal message delivered by Belle Glade Finance Director Frank Anderson to the local Rotary Club Tuesday was that the city's major sources of income are now mostly in the hands of the state and federal government.

Anderson told the Rotarians general property taxes, which once accounted for almost all the city's income, have been replaced by state and federal revenue sharing funds. Property taxes now contribute only about 10 percent while federal and state funds account for over a third.

The problems inherent in this, said Anderson, is that it gives state and federal government more control over the cities. The money is given "with strings attached," he said.

For instance, Anderson pointed out that due to federal construction guidelines, a building built with federal money involved costs the city 25 to 30 percent more than if the city did it itself.

Anderson said it is fortunate the city of Belle Glade has no general obligation bonds outstanding and is indebted less than $4.5 million in special interest bonds for sewer and water.

He said the city saved over $200,000 on sewer bonds over the term of the bond by re-issuing the bonds when market conditions were favorable and thereby obtaining a lower interest rate.

Changes in the laws affecting millage which may be levied decreased the city's millage rate from a high of 13 down to its present 8.85, he noted, but re-evaluation of property which increased its value means that the savings to the taxpayer is limited.

In answer to a question, Anderson said the city's payroll has increased by 25-30 positions over the past few years and several of those positions are funded by the federal government.

He also handed a budget breakdown to each member of the club.

Area farmers should ignore tax bill

GAINESVILLE—Glades farmers should not pay a recent bill they have received according to Florida Farm Bureau Federation's (FFBF) Director of Labor Relations Al French.

"Thousands of Florida farmers have erroneously received bills for Unemployment Compensation taxes for the fourth quarter of 1977," said French. "These taxes should not be paid as farmers are not covered under the law until Jan. 1, 1978."

French said FFBF has been informed by the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation that the bills were mailed due to a computer error.

Jean Wolf named to Dean's List

Jean Wolf of Belle Glade is among students named to the Dean's List for the fall quarter 1977 in the School of Nursing at Northwestern Michigan College, Traverse City, Mich. She is a graduate of Glades Central High School and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Wolf.

Duda makes appointments

Two appointments in marketing development positions at A. Duda and Sons, Inc. were announced this week by Edward Duda, president of the Florida-based agriculture growing and marketing firm which operates Southland Produce Company in California.

Joseph D. Obucina, Jr., has been named director of Marketing Development reporting to the president.

William C. "Bill" Moyer, formerly executive vice president of Blue Goose, Inc. of California, has joined Duda to assist Obucina.

"This team has been formed," said Edward Duda, "to strengthen A. Duda and Sons marketing and merchandising capabilities and to maximize the national and international sales potential of our company."

Junior Woman's members devote month to sharing

BELLE GLADE—Members of the Belle Glade Junior Woman's Club made a special effort to devote the month of December to sharing the Christmas spirit with others.

The club's regular business meeting in December was used as a workshop to make Christmas tree ornaments to send to the Thurman Kemp family, who recently lost their home and contents in a flash flood. Mrs. Kemp is a former Junior Woman's Club member.

The Home Life Department visited Sunset Heights Nursing Home here in Belle Glade. Thirteen residents who are confined to wheelchairs were given handmade lap robes, others were given socks as foot warmers, and homemade baked goods and refreshments were provided for the residents by Juniors.

The Public Affairs Department mailed make-up mirrors to girls at Hacienda Girls Ranch for Christmas presents, as well as collected toys from club members. The toys were taken to the Glades Correctional Institute for Juvenile Club inmates members to repair for the Christmas "Toys for Tots" project.

The Home Life and Mental Retardation department members

BELLE GLADE—On Dec. 6, Pennie Hughes was the hostess for the Omicron Iota meeting. She also presented the program entitled "Informal Education."

She invited six of her piano students to give a delightful recital to the group. The program ended with Pennie playing a duet with Jamie Mills while the group sang along. It was a very rewarding program which was enjoyed by all the members.

The December social, a Christmas party, was held on Dec. 16 at the home of Wayne and Dianne Carter. The guests enjoyed a cold buffet and homemade eggnog along with the many different hors d'oeuvres.

The holiday setting was enjoyed by members Sherry and Dudley Barnes, Jayne Boynton, Dianne and Wayne Carter, GeeGee and Floyd Collinsworth, June and Billy Rogers, Laura and Roy Hayes, Paula and Bubba Mock, Judy and Chink Shiele, Jane and Curtis Thompson, Lynnette and John Thompson, Bobbie Wilson, Cloty and Pat Murphy and their guests, Charida and Buddy Sizemore and Kate and Charles Trammell.

provided a Christmas party for children at the local Glades Area Association for Retarded Citizens pre-school.

In addition to refreshments, club members provided a book for each child, and cloth books for the babies. The club gave the pre-school a wooden indoor ladder, slide and tunnel combination piece of equipment.

Jayes Cottage at Sunland Training Center near Fort Myers is co-sponsored by the Woman's Club of Belle Glade and the Junior Club. Women residents of the cottage received scarves from the club for Christmas.

Also at the December meeting, five new members were initiated into the club by Membership Chairman Diane Corbin. New members include Mrs. Jennie Threlkelt, Mrs. Nina Sanders, Mrs. Susan Cassidy, Mrs. Martha Serrean, and Mrs. Lynette Van Kanagan.

January plans for the Juniors include a "Friday the Thirteenth" Club Social, to be held at the home of Mrs. Sandy Boots, and plans will be getting underway for the Belle Glade Anniversary Dance to be held April 8 in conjunction with the city-wide effort to celebrate Belle Glade's 50th anniversary since the hurricane of 1928.

investigating another assault charge Wednesday in which an employee claimed he had been attacked and punched in the nose Tuesday when he went to the mill to get his paycheck. No arrests had been made as of Wednesday afternoon.

Besides the assaults, two trucks and a bus were firebombed and an attempt was made to firebomb a second bus early Monday morning; an attempt was made to firebomb the home of two mill employees who hadn't joined the strike and two cane fields were burned, the apparent result of arson, early Tuesday morning.

Belle Glade Police were still investigating the attempted fire bombing of the home of Enos and Hattie Bain at 133 N.W. 11th St. and the firebombing of the two labor trucks as of Wednesday.

Deputy Sheriffs were investigating the suspected arson of the two cane fields, the firebombing of one bus at Labor Camp Number Four in South Bay and the attempted firebombing of another bus at the same camp.

Belle Glade Fire Inspector Tommy Williams said three Molotov cocktails were thrown at the Bain residence shortly after 1 a.m. Tuesday but none of the three reached the building and all three fizzled out on the grass in front of the home.

Bain is a mill employee and Mrs. Bain drives a labor bus at the Cooperative. There was no damage to the Bain home and both reported for work on time Tuesday morning.

The first of the two trucks was firebombed at 1:03 a.m. Monday at Sixth Street and Avenue C Place. The second truck erupted in flames eight minutes later at 524 S.W. Fourth St. Damage to the first truck was estimated between $800 and $1000 and the second truck was a total loss.

The two buses parked at Labor Camp Four in South Bay were fired about the same time. The fire on one never caught. A Wickenburg guard saw someone moving in the vicinity of the buses at the time they were fired and fired a shot but missed the fleeing suspect.

When contacted about the vehicle fires Monday morning, Boydston said he had heard rumors but nothing concrete at that time. He said he didn't believe the fires were caused by strikers, however and said he wasn't surprised, that such damage was often done during a strike and blamed on the union.

"We had a meeting last night (Sunday)," Boydston said, "and we stressed time and time again that we do not condone this type of tactic. We want a peaceful picket line."

Boydston also complained of harassment of the strikers by law enforcement officers who were at the mill Friday and in the days following.

When the strike began, members of the Sheriff's SWAT team were on the scene. Boydston said the picketers were intimidated by "rifles and submachine guns on the other side of the fence."

Boydston said he was harassed over the weekend when he attempted to hand out handbills to other mill employees to attempt to get them to join the strike. He said he was told to stop by a member of the Sheriff's Department.

Captain Fogleman said Boydston was ordered to stop handing out the handbills because it was in violation of a state statute making it unlawful, "for any person on a public street, highway, or sidewalk in the state to throw into, or attempt to throw into, any motor vehicle, or offer, or attempt to offer, to any occupant of any motor vehicle, whether standing or moving, or to place or throw into any motor vehicle any advertising or soliciting materials or to cause or secure any person or persons to do any one of such unlawful acts."

Much of the force of the strike was broken Friday when members of the cooperative supplied truck drivers to replace those who failed to show up for work.

Schiele said some of the members and some of members' families personally drove trucks during the strike. Of the 125 trucks normally operated on a daily basis by the Cooperative, only eight were reported idle the entire day Friday.

Record is now 7-4

Raiders advance with two wins

BELLE GLADE-The Glades Central Raiders boosted their season record to 7-4 over the weekend as Atlantic and John I. Leonard unwillingly extended the Raider roundballers' win streak to four games.

The Raiders are now tied with North Shore for the Suncoast Conference West lead with each team enjoying a 2-0 conference record.

Friday, the Raiders came off a win over Pahokee to add the Atlantic Eagles to their list of victims in a 78-74 victory. Coach Jay Seider said a factor to the win was the Raiders' ability to prevent an Atlantic score for the last 19 seconds of the game, with the ball under the Eagles' basket all that time.

"We had a five point lead at the end of the first half," Seider recalled, but added the second half was a closer game, with the lead changing hands several times.

"We managed to finally turn the score around and take the lead away from them with two minutes to go," he said, "and we got two quick field goals in those two minutes without letting them score enough to catch up."

The Raiders' defense was effective also, Seider said, and contributed to the final score.

"We caused them to have 19 turnovers," he said, "plus we stole the ball from them 20 times during the game. They hit the boards pretty hard though and we only outrebounced them by two. (Arthur) Slater did a good job for us there."

He also praised the contribution made by David Jones when he came in to replace Rufus Chambers, who fouled out after an off performance of only two points.

"Jones came in and scored eight points and made nine rebounds," Seider said. "He's really improved and he's stronger after lifting weights all summer."

Jessie Haynes was the high scorer for the Raiders during the game, scoring 33 points and making 12 rebounds. Three other Raiders scored in double digits with Michael Staples following Haynes with 11 points, three rebounds and seven assists. Arthur Slater made 10 points and 20 rebounds and Melvin Weston made 10 points, seven rebounds and four assists.

Joe Byrd rounded out the scoring with four points. Seider said Haynes' performance is steadily improving and he is becoming a well-rounded ball player, working well on defense as well as leading scoring on a regular basis and providing leadership for the team as well.

"He steals two or three balls a game," Seider said, "and he sank 53 per cent of his shots against Atlantic and 72 percent against Leonard and he's been scoring like that with the other teams using their best defenders against him."

The Head Raider said the Leonard game on Saturday, which Glades Central won, 74-54, was "an extremely physical game" and if they'd officiated the game half way decently, it probably would have been more one-sided.

Glades Central led the game, 45-25 at the half and Seider said the Raiders' quickness nullified height advantage given the Lancers by two 6'8" players.

"This was probably our best defensive game of the year," Seider said. "We switched from man-to-man to zone defense and back again. We ran our fast break better than we have any time this year too. They couldn't match our speed."

An indication of how one-sided the game could have been is that while the Raiders went to the free throw line only nine times, the Lancers took 24 free shots. To help balance that, Haynes attempted 10 field goals in the first quarter and made nine of those. Seider also noted that only eight of the ten players on the Glades Central team suited up for the game and seven of those scored.

Haynes led the scoring again, sinking 28 points and picking off 10 rebounds. He was followed by Weston with 15 points and four rebounds, Slater with 10 points and 13 rebounds, Chambers with 10 and 10, Staples with six points, two rebounds and six assists, Todd Darville with three and six and Jones with two and three.

The Raiders next take on Cardinal Newman, which has a 1-9 season so far, Friday and Suncoast next Tuesday. Both games are away.

ASCS is accepting ACP applications

BELLE GLADE—"We are now accepting applications for the Agricultural Conservation Program," John L. Hundley, Chairman of the County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) Committee said. The county allocation for 1978 ACP is $101,490.

The new ACP program places increased emphasis on rural pollution abatement as well as solving soil, water and woodland conservation problems.

Hundley said cost-sharing under the county ASC committee's priority system may range up to 80 percent of the farmers' or ranchers' cost on the most critical projects.

"Interested farmers should contact the county ASCS office for additional information on filing requests for ACP cost sharing," Hundley said. The initial sign-up period is from Jan. 2 to Feb. 24, 1978. The county office is located at 3019 State Road 15 (US 441, Glades Courthouse Annex), and the phone number is 996-7900.

Feed grain set-aside program announced

BELLE GLADE—The 1978 feed grain program calls for a 10 percent set-aside of corn, sorghum and barley acreage, according to Acting County Executive Director Marie Wilkins.

This conditional action will give USDA the opportunity in January and February to review the world and domestic situation again and revoke the set-aside if conditions change substantially.

The set-aside provision was included in the program because of record world and domestic grain stocks. Also, current farm prices are below the effective loan rate and estimated cost of production. The 10 percent set-aside is expected to reduce U.S. feed grain production by about 7 million tons, and should result in a 4-million ton difference in U.S. stocks.

Participation in the program is voluntary. However, non-participants are not eligible for price support loans, disaster, or target price payments. Farmers participating in the program must set aside one acre for every 10 acres actually planted for harvest in 1978. Under cross compliance rules farmers who do not participate in the program are ineligible for loans and payments on other crops. Quota crops are excluded.

For additional details on the 1978 feed grain set-aside program, contact the Belle Glade ASCS office.

All applicants will be given equal consideration without regard to race, color, sex, creed or national origin.

Pesticide alert is being given

BELLE GLADE—Glades farms are being asked to take part in a pesticide alert by Clayton E. Hutcheson, Palm Beach County director of the University of Florida Cooperative Extension Service, as well as getting further involved by supplying pesticide data.

"Many growers are frustrated by the continuous changing pesticide program," Hutcheson said. "There has been a good deal of confusion about how a grower can have input into the decision-making effort relating to pesticides."

He said he would like to help reduce the frustration and increase growers' effectiveness but needs the growers' help in doing so. "You have very important data," Hutcheson wrote county agricultural interests in a letter distributed this week, "that needs to be passed on to Washington, EPA (Environmental Protection Agency) and USDA (U.S. Department of Agriculture), Environmental, economic and control data as you see it on your operation."

He said any and all data relating to registration and cancellation of pesticides should be sent to Federal Registrator Section, Technical Services Div. (WH-569), Office of Pesticide Programs, EPA, Room 401 East Tower, 401 M St. S.W., Washington, D.C. 20460.

"We are going to make an effort to keep all those growers who so desire," he said, "alerted to pesticide cancellations and rebuttable presumptions against registration activities."

He said anyone wishing to join the pesticide alert by writing him at 531 N. Military Trail, West Palm Beach, FL 33406, enclosing their name, address and the statement they want to be listed.

If enough interest is generated (he would like to see 50-100 responses from the estimated 800 agricultural interest in the county) the program will commence but if not, he won't carry through. He said the purpose of the alert will be to let the interest know of any activity on chemicals used on the crops grown in Florida.

ALL TRACTION RADIAL
Tiempo Double Steel Belted Radial

A tire that's fun to drive because it gives you the right traction for any road, any weather. In the rain, Tempo helps you avoid hydroplaning - that dangerous loss of control that can occur on rain slick pavement. Yet Tempo steel belted radials also have the stability to ensure turnpike speeds, even under a scorching sun. Thanks to pay-saving radial construction, Tempo gives you responsive handling, good mileage, as well as economy Tempo - a lot of radial for the money.
